Candidate Chats

State Sen. Searcy Bracewell, candidate for the U. S. Senate, chats with Dr. J. A. Hill, president emeritus of West Texas State, during a coffee meeting Saturday morning.

Searcy Bracewell Campaigns Here

One of the four leading contenders for the U. S. Senate race visited in Canyon Saturday morning and presented portions of his platform for the consideration of voters here.

State Sen. Searcy Bracewell of Houston told Canyon voters that he opposes any form of federal aid to education. "It would destroy the last item of local self government," he said.

The candidate said he was no expert on agriculture and its problems, but felt something is wrong in the support-price difference between corn and maize.

"I do not propose to be any expert on farm legislation, nevertheless, it appears to me that the regulations concerning parity for sorghum grain are inequitable in comparison to other basic feeds.

"It is my understanding that grain sorghum contains approximately 95 per cent of the food value of corn, and, consequently, I would favor a parity based on such proportion. The Texas farmer growing grain sorghum should be treated on an equitable basis to the farmer in the commercial corn belt in the Mid-West growing corn," he said.

Sen. Bracewell has served in the state legislature since 1946, winning two terms in the house and winning an election to fill an unexpired term in the state senate in December, 1948.

He said he would vote with the Democratic Party in the U. S. Senate on party matters, such as an organization of the Senate, but would not hesitate to cross party lines on those issues where it would be to the best interest of Texas and the United States.

Sen. Bracewell said his campaign has been held back because he feels that he should not leave Austin during the sessions of the state senate and can only visit across the state on the weekends. But he said he is very pleased with the way his campaign is growing.

The senator said he expects a block of 100,000 votes from Harris County, his home county. Voters in that county purchased 300,000 poll tax receipts this year, the largest number ever issued there.

Sticking with his policy of tending to state business before devoting his time to campaigning, Sen. Bracewell collected the views of Canyon citizens on a number of issues that are pending in the legislature.

Staying nearly an hour in Canyon, the senator spent about 45 minutes discussing bills before the legislature and about 15 minutes on his candidacy for the U. S. Senate.

Sen. Bracewell met the Canyon voters at a coffee in the Longhorn Cafe, sponsored by Hosea Foster.

He is a native of Houston and was graduated from the public schools there. Sen. Bracewell attended Texas A&M where he majored in political science and history and was graduated in 1938. He attended night classes at the Houston Law School for the next two years and began the practice of law in 1940.

In 1941 he was called to active duty in the Army and was discharged in 1946 with the rank of major.

Sen. Bracewell was married in 1940 to Elizabeth Weaver. They have two children, Jody, 9, and Betsy, 5.

Eagle's Tale Wins First in Class In Panhandle High School Press

Canyon High School's newspaper, The Eagle's Tale, printed every other week as a part of The Canyon News, won first place in its division of the annual contests of the Panhandle High School Press Association. The award was presented Tuesday at the annual convention of the association at West Texas State College.

In addition to the top award for the paper, Annelle Dugan won first in the sports story contest and John Menke took third place. Dusty Hiltbrunner placed second in the feature story contest.

The school annual, Soaring Wings, placed second in the division it was entered in.

Judges for the contest were the members of the editorial staff of the Albuquerque Journal.

Senate Voting Light in County

If the present trend continues, the number of people who vote absentee in the U. S. Senate election can be counted on two hands.

Tuesday afternoon, only five absentee ballots had been cast in the county clerk's office. The last date for voting absentee is midnight March 29.

The election will be held April 2 in the 13 regular voting precincts. There are 23 candidates for the Senate post left vacant by the resignation of Gov. Price Daniel.

Fire Department Answers 2 Calls

Two fires reported Monday, one inside the city limits and the other out, resulted in light damage.

The fire reported outside the city limits was nearly a false alarm. It was reported to be a truck about five miles north of Canyon on Highway 87. The fire trucks went seven miles north and turned back, only to discover that the fire was in a carry-all working just at the underpass.

The operator had put the fire out before the trucks returned.

The first fire reported Monday was in the home of Mrs. M. T. Canada, 106 14th Street. It was caused by a wall heater, and the damage was light.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Byrd Jr. and family of San Anselmo, Calif., are visiting their parents, Mrs. Alice Black and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Byrd Sr.

Two More on School Ballot

Two more names have been filed for places on the ballot for the Canyon Independent School District election April 6 to elect two members to the school board.

Added to the list of those running were Newton Crain, present school board president, and Kenneth Erwin. Previously filed were the names of Mrs. R. A. Neblett and Mrs. Clay Cooper.

A petition bearing the names of 68 citizens of the district was presented to Erwin and Crain, requesting their names be placed on the official ballot.

Crain, who is now serving his second term on the school board, had made no definite commitment concerning the election, but when presented with the petition, both men consented to file for a place on the ballot.

Erwin, a stock farmer living 17 miles northeast of Canyon, is a graduate of Canyon High School and has been active in civic and community affairs. He has never served on the school board.

Both Erwin and Crain have children attending Canyon Junior High School.

Deadline for filing for the school board is March 26. Those who wish to file should contact the board secretary, A. C. Haley Jr.

County Appoints Raymond Wright

Raymond Wright of Route 4, Amarillo, was named as Randall County's representative to the bi-county health unit at a special meeting of the commissioners court Monday.

Randall County will have one representative on the board of directors of the unit and one ex-officio member. County Judge Roy Joe Stevens will be the ex-officio member.

Canyon's representative on the board will be Dr. C. R. Nester and City Secretary Andrew Boggs will be the ex-officio member.

Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Pond visited at Borger Monday with Mr. and Mrs. Bill Pfeffer and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Cox.

Panel Is Program For Canyon P-TA

A panel composed of two teachers and two parents will discuss problems, both old and new, in helping children through school at the Canyon P-TA meeting Thursday night in the elementary school.

The meeting will begin at 7:45 p. m.

Moderator of the panel will be Dr. James L. Russell. On the panel will be T. L. Devin, Mrs. Charles Harter, Clark Jarnagin and Mrs. Raymond Haddock.

The public is invited to the meeting.

An all-athlete chorus will sing under the direction of Ada V. Clark.

Stick 'Em Day Set Thursday

The second community wide mass inoculation of polio vaccine is Thursday. The shots may again be received at the Medical and Dental Clinic and Neblett Hospital for $1.

Doctors and nurses will give the shots between the hours of 9:30 to 12 noon and from 2 to 6 p. m. Those who need to receive their third shots of the Salk vaccine may do so at this time at the $1 rate. Shots at this price will be given only on Thursday.

The third injection for those who received their first shot in February will be given at the regular price.

Junior Woman's Book Club Gets Awards at Federated Clubs Meet

The Junior Woman's Book Club of Canyon received 11 awards at the Seventh District of Federated Women's Clubs convention last Thursday and Friday in Amarillo.

Five of the awards were first place certificates. These awards were for work done in forts and missions, Texas heritage; club report; junior outstanding club report; fine arts; and American home.

Second place awards won by the club were on Christianity, religions of the world; education; public affairs; and junior reports. A third place certificate was awarded to the club for work in conservation and natural resources.

The club also received a certificate for 100 per cent subscription to the Texas Clubwoman, federation magazine.

Seven official delegates from three Canyon federated clubs attended the convention. From Sue Hite Club were Mrs. Hud Prichard, Mrs. Burney Slack, Mrs. Gene McGlasson and Mrs. Crannell Tolliver. Mrs. Lee Johnson was delegate for the Woman's Book Club, and Mrs. Bruce Winn and Mrs. Bill Cherry represented the Junior Woman's Book Club.

Mrs. H. R. Fulton Jr., president of the Junior Woman's Book Club, was song leader for the convention, and Mrs. R. T. Lindsey, dis-

Rites Held for James C. Martin

Final rites for James Carl Martin were conducted Saturday afternoon in the First Methodist Church in Happy by the Rev. J. R. Wood, pastor.

Pallbearers were Walter Via, Truly Coile, Cone Johnson, F. A. Hodges Jr., Dozier Thornton and Jack Caddil. Burial was in the Happy cemetery under direction of Warren-LaGrone Funeral Chapel.

Mr. Martin, 62, died Friday afternoon in Neblett Hospital after suffering a heart attack Thursday morning at his home 13 miles southwest of Happy.

He moved to the Happy area in 1955 from Hale Center. Mr. Martin was born Sept. 16, 1894.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Ethel Martin; a daughter, Mrs. Bertie Conner, Kingsburg, Calif.; a stepson, Ronnie Lee Martin, Happy; and a brother, John W. Martin, Wellington.

Little League Benefit Is Friday

The final "big pitch" for Randall County Little League funds outside of membership sales comes Friday night in the West Texas Fieldhouse with a basketball tournament with amateur players and a wrestling match with professionals.

Tickets are now on sale for the event, with the Canyon Jaycees handling advance sales. Tickets will also be available at the door. Prices are $1 for adults, 50 cents for college and high school students and 25 cents for those in the eighth grade and under.

Teams from the Canyon Lions, Rotary and Jaycees and an all-star team from Umbarger will play in the tournament. Dory Funk and Don Curtis will battle in the wrestling match, with WT Coach Frank Kimbrough as referee.

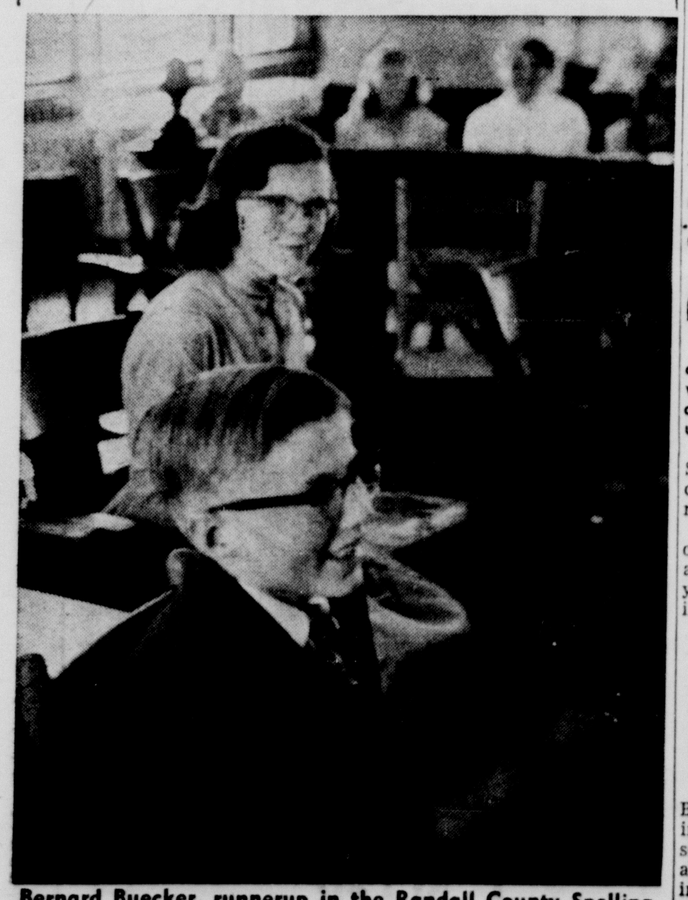

The drive for Little League funds was started in February, and the league was formally organized about the first of March. An application for a charter from Little League, Inc., has been prepared.

The call for players will come early in May and the league schedule will begin in June.

The boundary of the league includes all of Randall County except that part lying inside the city limits of Amarillo. When the call for players is given, any boy who lives in the county outside of Amarillo will be eligible to play. Age limits are nine through 12.

"Come pitch for Little League" was the invitation issued by the association for the sports event Friday.

Best Spellers

Bernard Buecker, runnerup in the Randall County Spelling Bee, spells a word with glee, while Mary Barger, the eventual winner, awaits her turn.

Spelling Title Stays in Family As Younger Sister Wins Randall Bee

The title of "best speller in the county" was kept in the family when Mary Barger spelled "cuticle" and "diversion" correctly Saturday morning.

In last year's spelling bee, Sandra Barger won the Randall championship, and this year's winner placed fourth.

Mary Barger, 13, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Barger, is an eighth grader and attends Canyon Junior High. The Barger family lives northwest of Canyon.

In the junior bee, held earlier Saturday, Michael Raef, 11, was the winner. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Raef of Umbarger and is in the fifth grade at Umbarger school. He had entered the bee for the second time.

Runner-up in the senior bee was Bernard Buecker, 11, a fifth-grader in Umbarger school. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Buecker, and was a contestant in the spelling bee last year.

Runner-up in the junior bee was Bob Haggard, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Haggard. He is a sixth-grader in Canyon Junior High.

Words spelled correctly in the final rounds of the senior bee were "creditable," "cryptic," "discrepancy," "consonant," "cuticle" and "diversion." Young Buecker missed "cuticle," spelling it with a "d" instead of a "t," and the winner spelled it correctly. She finished by spelling "diversion."

The winner of the junior bee spelled "adage," and "amiable" to win.

EAGLES WIN ANOTHER MEET

Canyon's Eagles flew away with another track meet Saturday as the team counted up 27 points to win first place in the Crosbyton Relays Saturday.

Charles Neblett, second high man in the meet, led the Eagles with 10 points—first places in the low and high hurdles. Harlie Adams took first in the 880-yard run.

Elston Burkham won second in the shot put and Richard Burgess took second in the discus throw. George Snapp placed third in the broad jump.

A 440-yard relay team, composed of Eddie Boydstun, A. L. Pruett, Snapp and Adams, won third place in that event.

Gary Poage of Happy was high-point man in the meet with 11 points—all those won by the Happy team. He placed first in broad jump, second in the 100-yard dash and second in the 220-yard dash.

Last Rites Held for Resident's Brother

Last rites were conducted March 12 for Charlie B. Smith of Lubbock, brother of Mrs. T. W. Collins. The service was in Carrs Chapel at Floydada. The Smith family was raised on a farm in Floyd County.

'Clean' Democrat Visits Canyon

Announcing he is a "clean Democrat," and handing out small bars of soap, C. O. Foerster Jr. of Elsa, Texas, visited Canyon Monday in behalf of his candidacy for U. S. Senator. He was the second candidate to visit Canyon.

Foerster, 43, said that he feels that since the United States has so many relations with the Latin American countries and Spain, that at least one Senator should speak Spanish.

"I do not feel we can buy friends with American dollars and I do not feel the Republican Party can buy Texas votes with American dollars," he said.

Foerster has been a newsboy, bootblack, teacher, roughneck, chemical worker, labor organizer, fertilizer businessman, soil chemist, soldier, horticulturist and farmer, president and vice president of two small corporations, wildcat oil promoter and has been self employed.

Mrs. Jack Seay was called to Ottumwa, Iowa, Monday by the death of her father, Mr. Lee.

Mrs. Pauline Boyd of Greenwood, Miss., is visiting Mrs. Maud Cates.

Line Standers Wait Till Last

If you don't want to stand in line to get your 1957 automobile license plates, you'd better drop by the tax office soon.

Just a little over half of the tags which will be sold this year have been issued by the tax office, and the other half of the car owners in the county will be crowding to the office during the next 11 days.

The tags must be on all cars beginning at midnight March 31.

Add Thirty Members to Chamber

Thirty new members were announced at the monthly meeting of the Canyon Chamber of Commerce board of directors meeting Thursday, and it was further announced that the membership drive will continue.

Each member of the board was given a list of prospects to contact for chamber membership, and the directors said they had not finished their lists. President Delbert Lowes asked that they continue their work and report on March 29.

Any individual who would like to join the chamber may do so by contacting the secretary, Roland Black, or any member of the board of directors.

New members announced Thursday were Buffalo Lake, Don's Cafe, T-Anchor Cafe, "K" Service Station, Henscheid's Feed and Farm Service, Mary Sligar, Wendell Cain, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Mack, Ruth Cross, A. K. Knott, C. C. Callarman, Floyd Langford Jr., Roy Joe Stevens, Mavis Hill, Andrew Boggs, Ruth Hill, Agnes Charlton, Emilio Caballero, J. L. Gilmore, George de Schweinitz, Jack Walker, Thomas D. MacOwan, Crannell Tolliver, Gort Rushmer, M. B. Measamer, Don Briggs, H. L. Cook, O. J. Lehman and Bob Lindsey.

EDITORIAL

Views and Comments

A couple of weeks ago Congressman Walter Rogers wrote about federal aid to education in his news letter to the district, and warned that it would be well to weigh carefully the price that will be exacted for such aid.

He said that proponents of the plan are willing to accept any federal aid bill they can get, simply on the basis of "getting a foot in the door," so that the door can be swung open later to give the federal government full control of the public education system.

Other warnings that have appeared in the public print argue that the great number of classrooms that some say are needed in the nation for the next few years include a great number of rooms that educators would like to have if someone else would pay the bill. Not only does the number include those classrooms which are needed to take care of increased population and to replace classrooms which are no longer adequate, but it also takes into account auditoriums, gymnasiums and multi-purpose rooms which are nice but are not absolutely necessary.

As a matter of record, it was revealed in Congressional hearings in May 1955 that more than two-thirds of the school building "needs" reported from one state were for such facilities, and less than one-third were for actual classrooms.

Gov. W. Preston Lane, chairman of the Committee for the White House Conference on Education, said in his introductory speech at the conference that the figures supplied by public school authorities for classroom needs were swollen by "desire." The subcommittee of the conference which was charged with studying school building needs omitted from its report a specific reference to any shortage.

Some people have warned that the figures cited to show the need for classrooms are "crash figures," designed to panic the people of the nation into demanding federal aid. It has been said that those figures have no basis in fact.

The education department of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce has recently compiled a comparison of school construction to enrollment needs, using figures available in the U. S. Office of Education.

The comparison shows that school construction has actually topped enrollment needs each year in the past 10 years. The figures show that 179,000 of the classrooms built during the period are in excess of the increased enrollment needs. For instance, the Office of Education estimated that 41,300 new classrooms would be needed during 1956-57—and 69,000 were built.

The report points out that the extra classrooms are not to be considered surplus, but were built to replace obsolete buildings and to absorb accumulated shortages left over from the depression and war years.

There is a lot of talk about children being forced to attend school on a half-day basis because of the shortage of room. The National Education Association estimates there are 840,000 in that category—that makes 2.6 per cent of the total enrollment.

Immediately after the war, new classroom additions began to outstrip increased enrollment needs. In 1947, zooming enrollments required 9,500 new classrooms. School boards over the nation built 16,000. In 1950-51, increased enrollments would have required 20,000 classrooms—44,000 were built.

Since the end of World War II, the school boards of the nation have built 470,000 new classrooms, and nearly all of them have been built with money from the local and state agencies. A small portion was built with federal money—those in areas where the demand was caused directly by a government installation.

Public education in the United States is the second largest item of public expenditure, just under national defense. The vast majority of the money spent for education comes from local and state levels. Yet, the percentage of tax money taken by state and local governments has dropped from 60.6 per cent to 27.7 per cent, and the federal government has risen.

Out of each tax dollar collected in 1940, state and local governments took 60.6 cents and the federal government took 39.4 cents. In the 1956 tax picture, the federal government took 72.3 cents and the state and local governments took 27.7 cents.

It was generally agreed at the White House Conference that all of the states are able to pay for the schools they need, but many of those educators at the conference doubted that "political determination" in the states was powerful enough to get the schools built. In other words, they felt that voters in some states are not willing to tax themselves enough to build new buildings—so the Great White Father should make sure they got taxed.

Plainly put, those educators figured that the people are too dumb to know what they need and someone else has to make them do right.

Some 30 years ago, Nicholas Murray Butler, then president of Columbia University, pointed up the fallacy of attempting to substitute federal authority and funds for local responsibility in public education.

"There is not enough money in the United States, even if every dollar of it were expended on education, to produce through federal authority, or what is naively called cooperation between the federal government and the several states, educational results that would be at all comparable with those that have already been reached under the free and natural system that has grown up among us.

"Unless the school is both the work and the pride of the community it serves, it is nothing. A school system that grows naturally in response to the needs and ambitions of a hundred thousand different communities will be a better school system than any which can be imposed upon those localities by the aid of grants of public money from the federal treasury accompanied by federal regulation, federal inspections, federal reports and federal uniformities," Dr. Butler said.

Former U. S. Commissioners of Education have written that federal aid programs must be accompanied by federal control. One, Dr. John J. Tigert, said, "My experience in handling federal subsidies for education under the limited acts which are now in existence has taught me that you must either have federal control and interference or you must have misappropriation of funds and waste."

Dr. S. M. Brownell wrote in 1930, "If there is to be little or no federal control accompanying federal aid, what right have we to expect a major improvement of the education within states under the same leaders that they now have?" That holds true today, also.

Then last year, President Eisenhower warned about centralizing controls. (In a reversal of this statement, however, the President is pulling for federal aid).

The President said: "Geographical balance of power is essential to our form of free society. If you take the centralizing shortcut every time something is to be done, you will perhaps sometimes get quick action. But there is no perhaps about the price you will pay for your impatience; the growth of a swollen bureaucratic monster government in Washington, in whose shadow our state and local governments will ultimately wither and die."

The price you pay is the loss of another freedom, one of the few remaining. And with the loss comes a resulting rise in taxes sent to Washington to feed the "monster."

Emmitt Smith To Be State Director Of Teacher Education for One Year

Dr. Emmitt Smith, professor of education and director of student teaching at West Texas State College, will become director of teacher education of the Texas Education Agency in June.

Dr. Smith has been granted a year's leave of absence from WT to accept the post, President James P. Cornette has announced. He will assume duties in Austin June 1 and will return to WT in September, 1958. Normand Madore, assistant professor of education, will supervise student teaching at WT in Dr. Smith's absence.

Succeeding Herbert LaGrone in the post, Dr. Smith will head a section of the agency which will approve the teacher education programs of 49 colleges of the state.

Main task for him will be the organization of visitation teams to evaluate teacher training plans on the college and university campuses. His section is also connected with the certification of teachers and research in the field of teacher education.

The group also handles such projects as the television education series, "Let's Teach."

Dr. Smith, long active in state groups seeking improvement of teacher education, was president last year of the Texas Conference on Teacher Education.

A former president of District 9, Texas State Teachers Association, Dr. Smith recently was awarded a plaque for "outstanding service to teachers of the Panhandle."

Before coming to WT in 1949, Dr. Smith was superintendent of schools at White Deer and Brownfield. He was formerly president of the Texas Society of College Teachers of Education, and is a member of the Texas Association of School Administrators.

Mrs. Smith, who is teaching at Southlawn Elementary School in Amarillo, will accompany her husband to Austin, where she will continue teaching.

Two Canyon Chemistry Majors Awarded Graduate Assistantships

Two West Texas State College senior chemistry students have been awarded graduate assistantships for the 1957-58 session, according to Dr. Roger Whealy, chemistry department head.

Both from Canyon, they are Leroy Dickerson and John E. Miller. They expect to receive B.S. degrees in chemistry here in May, and to begin graduate work in September.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Dickerson, young Dickerson will be a teaching assistant and laboratory instructor at the University of Kansas. Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Miller, will be an assistant at the University of Utah.

The two men were graduated in 1953 from Canyan High School, and have followed similiar paths at West Texas State. They are members of Alpha Chi, national honor society, and the two were selected to represent WT last year in "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges."

Dickerson was the highest ranking boy in his high school graduating class, and was a member of the Canyon Eagles foot ball team. He is a member of Kappa Kappa Psi, national band fraternity, and of the Buffalo Band.

Miller was president of the student council in high school and a member of the National Honor Society. He was winner of the "outstanding freshman chemistry student" award at WT, and has held a du Pont scholarship for the past two years. He worked in the research department of the Amarillo Helium Plant last summer.

Tax-Man Sam Sez:

It is too late to keep complete records to support your income tax return for 1956, in fact, you may already have filed your tax return for 1956. Even if you are still working on your 1956 income tax return, the only thing you can do about 1956 records is to gather them up and keep them. Your 1957 records are a different story. You ought to keep records to support every deduction on your 1957 income tax return. It may pay you to use the standard deduction but, if you have records, you can choose either a standard deduction or an itemized deduction, whichever is to your advantage.

If the husbands of the women of the Highland Home Demonstration Club could have been present at the home of Mrs. L. T. Campbell March 13 they would have been grateful to the manufacturers of cosmetics, according to Mrs. L. T. Campbell, club reporter.

That morning the HD women had a "come as you are" breakfast, and many of the women sported a shiny nose and tousled hair.

After a breakfast of fancy rolls, jelly, apple butter, fruit and coffee, various games and contests were conducted and several "graceful" poses were photographed.

Those attending were Mrs. James Lamb, Mrs. Roy Godman, Mrs. Leroy Lamb, Mrs. John Plank, Mrs. R. C. Reeder, Mrs. Earl Boydstun, Jimmy Lamb and the hostess.

Formula Is Given For Pretty Room

The formula for an attractive room is "something dark, something light, something dull and something bright," Mrs. Mona Hildreth, HD agent, told the Highland Home Demonstration Club March 13.

She showed the club swatch of drapery material, wall paper, and illustrated pointers on color and texture combinations for bedrooms with slides.

The hostess, Mrs. L. T. Campbell, served angel food cake with orange sauce and coffee to Mrs. Hildreth, Mrs. James Lamb, Mrs. John Plank, Mrs. George Cook, Mrs. R. C. Reeder, Mrs. Leroy Lamb and Mrs. Roy Godman.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Leroy Lamb March 27 at 2 p. m.

Mrs. Sallie Gressett of Kirkland is spending several weeks with her son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Gressett and children.

Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Lewis of Borger visited their children the past weekend.

I GIVE YOU

TEXAS

By BOYCE HOUSE

When I was editor of a daily paper in Eastland for several years, I also served as local correspondent for one of the big dailies of the State.

A man was going to be tried on the charge of having been the Santa Claus in the bank robbery in Cisco. The selection of a jury was slow and tedious. The big city paper asked me to cover this but about the time that testimony was going to begin and there would really be something exciting to write about, the State's most famous newspaper correspondent arrived.

I continued to cover the case but only for the Eastland paper, along with all the other news in the town, the writing of headlines and the numerous other tasks on a "one-man daily."

Testimony and arguments ended and then the jury began its deliberations. During a morning, the jury reported it could not agree but the judge sent it back. It was nearly 2 o'clock that afternoon and I had written all my news and was approaching the square when I saw men running toward the courthouse. The jury was about to report!

My rival and friend, Frank Jones, editor of the other Eastland paper, was there—but the famous newspaper correspondent was nowhere to be seen.

Jones and I quickly worked out a plan because it was close to press time. I would wait only to hear the verdict and he would remain for all the other happenings which he would tell me when I returned after having given the "flash" to my paper and his.

The courtroom was crowded so when the verdict was read, I opened a door back of the judge's stand and sped down a "secret" spiral stairway.

On reaching a phone, I called my own paper and then Frank's. Then I placed a call to the metropolitan paper and gave them the verdict.

The star staff writer was so sure that the jury was hopelessly deadlocked that he had gone to Breckenridge to visit friends. Imagine his emotions when, late that afternoon, he bought a copy of his paper on the street in Breckenridge and read the headline, "Santa Claus Gets 99 Years"!

He had been scooped—scooped in his own newspaper.

Visiting in the Bruce Gressett home Sunday afternoon were Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Henderson, Mrs. Clarence Wilson and children of Wichita Falls, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Finsterwald of Mobeetie, Mr. and Mrs. I. E. Byers of Pampa, and Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Prater and Rebecca of Amarillo.

"WITH MY Electric Dryer I PICK MY OWN DRYING TIME!"

Says Mrs. Oscar Williams
OF GOODWELL, OKLAHOMA
Teacher and Registrar at Panhandle A. & M. College

"When I arrive home from work at 5 P.M., I usually start my washday. So you see why it is so important that I have an electric clothes dryer. I pick my own wash time and day with no dependence on the weather. One of my nightly projects is grading and correcting classroom papers so it is really nice to know that Reddy is working for me. My electric clothes dryer makes it convenient for me and my work and too, my clothes come out so much softer and fluffier," says Mrs. Williams.
You, too, can pick your washday time... with an ELECTRIC clothes dryer.

A CHANGE FOR OUR CUSTOMERS

DAN'S STORE is expressing heartfelt thanks to all customers who, by their faithful patronage have changed a rundown corner into a good store (THAT is a credit to our community).

DAN'S STORE now operates with one full time employee and three part time employees. YOU can make it possible for DAN'S STORE to soon hire 10 employees. YOU can make this possible by making it a continued habit of buying your SEWING - KNITTING - CROCHET NEEDS AT DAN'S STORE.

This good habit will make it possible to have all the available services needed for high fashion and homes beautified with artistic handwork (right here in your community operated by your neighbors) by buying at DAN'S STORE. YOU make it possible for DAN'S STORE to service you better and save YOU more money because DAN'S STORE plows the profits into more SERVICES for DAN'S STORE Customers. (It takes a Christian that reads the Bible, Good Parents and Teachers, Civic Leaders that practice what they preach to maintain a community devoid of penny selfishness).

COURT VOTES AGAINST BILL

By a vote of three to one, the Randall County commissioners decided to keep their stand against county participation in the proposed Amarillo hospital district during a special meeting last Wednesday.

The commissioners had passed a resolution stating their stand on the question about three weeks ago. They re-affirmed their position by refusing to rescind the resolution. Voting for changing the position was C. Y. Johnson, commissioner for Precinct 4.

Earlier in the meeting, the commissioners decided to pay off the bonds issued to construct the new jail during a period of five years instead of 14 as originally planned. Bob Davis of Columbian Securities, holder of the bonds, told the commissioners the county could save $18,000 in interest by paying off the bonds during the shorter period.

State Sen. Grady Hazlewood had written a letter to the commissioners about two weeks ago stating that he felt the commission had made a mistake in taking a stand against the hospital bill. He urged they reconsider their position.

The court discussed the bill during the regular meeting March 11, and decided to discuss it further last Wednesday. They asked a series of questions, and authorized County Judge Roy Joe Stevens to contact Sen. Hazlewood and F. V. Wallace of Amarillo, chairman of the citizens committee studying the proposed hospital district.

Judge Stevens told the court he had placed a call to Sen. Hazlewood on Tuesday, but had not been able to talk with the senator. He said he had not had a chance to call Wallace in Amarillo.

In making the vote against the hospital district, the commissioners said they would keep their minds open on the subject. They indicated they would take it up at a later date if they were given information showing that they should.

NO DOUBLE HEADER

"John, did you pay my little brother to remain out of the parlor?" the young woman soberly demanded.

"Er-yes, I did," her timid beau replied. "I hope I was not presuming."

"Not at all," came the laughing rejoinder. "I just wanted to make sure that that little chiseler didn't collect from both of us."

Sophisticated 'Dulcy' Is Spring Play At Branding Iron Beginning Tonight

Sophisticated drawing room comedy will be the spring play offering in the BIT at West Texas State College, as "Dulcy," a three-act production by Kaufman and Connelly, opens today for a three night run. Curtain time for each performance is 8:15 p. m.

Cast includes Jim Perkins of Borger; Bill Graham, Pat Starr Hall, Bill Smith, Eddie Thomas, Dean Kelley, of Amarillo; and Bebe Scott, Virginia Beck, Joann Mickey, Ray Murphy and Fawayne Murphy, of Canyon.

Admission is 75 cents for adults and 50 cents for high school and grade children. Reserved seats may be obtained through the WT speech departments. Alpha Psi Omega, national dramatics fraternity, is producing the show, assisted by William A. Moore.

Setting of the play is in the drawing room of the suburban Smith home somewhere in the United States. Dulcy, played by Mrs. Hall, is a sweet, well-meaning housewife who has a weakness of putting her ever-prying fingers into the business of her husband, Gordon, played by Bill Smith.

Without her husband's knowledge, Dulcy invites seven weekend guests to their home. Each a character in himself, the visitors soon bring on a complicated situation.

Dulcy's brother, Bill, portrayed by Perkins, is easy going and never seems to get excited. Miss Scott plays Henrietta, the maid, whom Dulcy has hired from the city jail.

Mr. Forbes, played by Graham, has a noticeable dominating personality, is loud, and extremely jealous of his wife, played by Miss Beck.

Mrs. Forbes makes her husband's life an exasperating situation as she flirts with all the men guests. Their daughter, Angela, played by Miss Mickey, daydreams often and is easily influenced by colorful words.

Thomas plays Van Dyke, a pianist guest greatly engrossed in his work. Leach, played by Kelley, is a scenario writer quite sold on himself and his way of life.

An eager young advertising man, Starret, played by Ray Murphy, obnoxiously crashes in on the week-end party. Patterson, played by Fawayne Murphy, is a lawyer for the Van Dyke estate.

Director of the comedy is Verdi Knox of Amarillo, who is secretary-treasurer of Alpha Psi Omega.

Stage managers of the production are Smith and Letha Fedric Green, of Stratford. Lighting is under the direction of Dale Pedigo of Amarillo.

UNFAIR-

A London teacher received the following letter from the mother of one of her pupils:

"Dear Miss —. Please don't give Johnny any more homework. That sum about how long would it take a man to walk 40 times around Trafalgar Square caused his father to lose a whole day's work. Then when he'd walked it you marked the sum wrong."

FRESH TOMATOES BY JULY 4th!

The electric hotbed has answered the wishes of those who desire an early garden, but hesitate to challenge the unpredictable Spring weather.

An electric hotbed can give your seedlings the necessary early start and healthy growth to produce nutritious, vine ripened tomatoes by early July. For that matter, you can have a full garden of any number of vegetables that can easily be transplanted, such as lettuce, eggplant, peppers, etc.

Your hotbed installation requires only a small investment and it can be used year after year to give you early garden produce. One 60 foot electric soil heating cable will dissipate 400 watts on 110 volts, and will heat 36 square feet of soil.

For July 4th tomatoes you need to start your seedlings in the latter part of February. These seeds germinate readily at soil temperatures between 68 and 75 degrees F, but when the seedlings appear above ground the temperature should be lowered slightly to prevent weak and spindly growth. Generally a soil temperature of 65 degrees, with plenty of light and moderate watering, will produce good stocky seedlings, but the air temperature should not go above 70 degrees at any time. Germination is in five to eight days. Transplanting to the open garden in late May can be done without loss of growth.

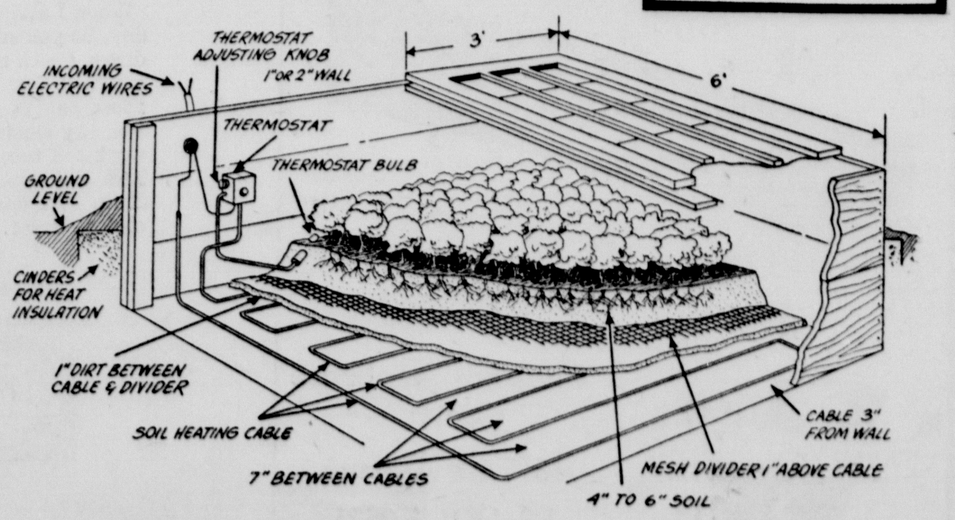

In locating your hotbed it is advised to select a sunny exposure on well-drained soil, protected from cold winds by shrubbery or by partial burying in the ground. Follow the hotbed instructions for each of the annual seedlings planted.

Your farm equipment dealer can give you any information you might need on hotbed installation and operation, or check with your power supplier.

An electric hotbed can produce a Fourth of July salad of nutritious, garden ripened vegetables from any home plot.

Highlights and Sidelights FROM Your State CAPITOL

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

Although more spectacular issues have grabbed the headlines, Legislature is now hitting its biggest responsibility of this or any session. That is adopting a state budget for the next two years.

House committee approval cleared the way for debate this week on the record - setting $2,000,000,000 spending program. It represents an increase of nearly $340,000,000 in spending from all state funds. It means more money in nearly every area of state service — raises to 90 per cent of state employes, more funds for education, hospitals, highway patrol, state buildings and operating state departments.

Despite all these, no new taxes are foreseen. Instead, Appropriations Chairman Max C. Smith, repsentative from San Marcos, predicted some $45,000,000 will be left over for additional items, such as teacher pay raises.

Reason for this bright outlook is Comptroller Robert S. Calvert's estimate that current tax sources will yield $100,000,000 more in revenue next biennium than previously.

Long Road

House committee to investigate bribery charges seemingly faces a drawn-out task.

Its powers have been broadened to include any irregularities by House members in this or past sessions. But the picture the committee set out to clarify has become increasingly muddled.

Rep. James E. Cox of Conroe, under indictment on charges of consenting to accept a bribe, resigned his House seat. He said he plans to clear his name and run for the office again in a special election.

Members of the Texas Naturopathic Association, which originated the charges against Cox, gave conflicting testimony about the group's past activities. Dr. Howard Harmon of San Antonio, current president, said the association raised from $37,000 to $55,000 during the 1955 session for legislative purposes. Dr. Robert Spears of Dallas, 1955 president, denied this.

Meanwhile, Dr. R. E. McMeans, Conroe chiropractor and friend of Cox, was attacked with acid. McMeans was credited with instigating the bill which would outlaw naturopaths. It was the bill on which the alleged bribery attempt pivoted.

Auto Insurance Rate

After hot debate and long testimony, Senate Insurance Committee sent the auto insurance "flexible rating" bill to subcommittee.

Sen. Jarrard Secrest's bill would allow companies to set rates competitively, rather than having a uniform rate set by the Insurance Commission.

Proponents contended it would mean lower insurance for buyers. Opponents called it risky, suggested that companies making sufficient profit should return dividends rather than charging lower rates.

White Ouster Pushed

Agriculture Commissioner John White, campaigning for the U. S. Senate, has bumped into a side skirmish.

A farm group led by Austin Anson of Harlingen wants to abolish the elective agriculture post. Substitute would be a 21-member board appointed by the governor and a commissioner appointed by the board.

A bill was prepared and Rep. J. T. Ellis Jr. of Weslaco was asked to introduce it.

White blamed Secy. of Agriculture Ezra Benson. He called the move a "plot" to rob Texas of its control over state farm matters.

Water Plan Materializing

At long last a Texas water saving plan is near reality. Passed by both House and Senate, it needed only conference committee adjustments and the governor's signature to send it to the polls for final approval.

Issuance of $200,000,000 in state bonds would be authorized by the proposed constitutional amendment to help finance local water conservation projects. It is the keystone of an overall water program urged by Gov. Price Daniel for emergency action.

Under the financing plan, local districts could borrow from the state up to one-third the cost of projects or $5,000,000, whichever is smaller. Lending would be supervised by a board to be appointed by the governor.

With the 120-day session past the half-way mark, the usual masses of "routine" bills were being shoved through the mill. Some of the more significant concerned.

BEER—House committee amended a bill to prohibit beer sales on Sunday and after 10 p. m. weekdays to bar Sunday sales only. Senate passed bill allowing breweries in wet precincts to continue production if the precinct is voted dry.

REPORTORIAL RIGHTS—Senate passed and House committee indicated eventual approval of a TPA-sponsored bill opening political party conventions to reporters.

MILK—Pending House bill sets 3¼ per cent minimum butterfat content for milk offered for sale and provides penalties for misrepresentation.

MOVIES—House passed a bill cutting the tax on movie admissions to aid theaters in competition with television.

AUTOMOBILES — Constitutional amendment proposed in the House would increase motor vehicle license fees by one-third and abolish the property tax on cars.

SCHOOLS—Both houses adopted resolutions petitioning Congress not to enact federal aid to schools.

House also passed on second reading a bill that would allow the state to cut off funds from a school district whose officials refused to order an audit of the books.

INSURANCE—Senate passed a bill by Sen. Wardlow Lane to retain control of insurance liquidation in the Insurance Commission rather than putting it under Travis County judges. Said Senator Lane, "My people don't vote on Travis County judges."

MENTAL HEALTH — House passed enabling act for the constitutional amendment approved by voters to allow for waiving of lunacy trials.

SHOPLIFTERS — A proposed House bill would allow storekeepers to hold suspected shoplifters without risking false imprisonment penalties.

STATE AFFAIRS—Sen. Charles Herring of Austin proposed a constitutional amendment giving governors a four-year-term and barring a governor from succeeding himself.

Don McDonald Breaks Scoring Record In Basketball at Texas A&I College

Don McDonald, Texas A&I College's outstanding basketball guard, finished the current cage season with a record-breaking 421 points.

McDonald's total output for the season bettered the old A&I record of 388 points, set in 1950-51 by Harlan Huibregtse. The best game average, however, is still held by Marvin Leggett, who finished the 1953-54 season with a 20.2 average in 19 games.

McDonald, a five foot, 11 inch junior from Canyon, emerged with second-place scoring laurels among Lone Star Conference players.

His deft scoring earned him an average of 17.5 points per game, narrowly missing first place which was won by Sam Houston State's Glenn Jochec, who averaged 18.1 per contest.

Following the 1955-56 cage campaign McDonald was voted to the all-Lone Star Conference second team and is a sure bet to place on the mythical team again this year.

The classy star won honorable mention all-American honors while playing for San Angelo Junior College in 1954-55.

New Insect Spray Thought Best Ever

COLLEGE STATION—The latest thing in all-purpose insect repellents is diethyl toluamide. Test repellents containing this chemical display twice as much resistance t onormal "wear-off action" as do other types.

It will probably be available in several commercial products this spring.

The new repellent can be safely applied to the skin or clothing and will successfully protect the wearer against mosquitoes, chiggers, ticks, fleas, and biting flies, according to the USDA.

It offers better protection against mosquitoes generally than any other single chemical or combination of chemicals.

Its high resistance to rubbing means longer-lasting protection for farmers and all outdoorsmen. The new repellent outperforms all others against the stable fly and is as good as any other for deer flies or sand flies. It is the best repellent so far developed for ticks.

In addition, a pleasant lotion "feel" makes it ideal for picnickers and backyard gardeners.

Clothing and other fabrics can be readily treated with diethyl toluamide by saturating them with emulsions or dry-cleaning preparations containing the chemical.

Thirty-three years usually constitute a generation.

Museum Pictures To Be in Encyclopedia

The forthcoming edition of the Book of Knowledge, juvenile reference works, will include pictures from the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum.

C. Boone McClure, museum director, received requests from the Book of Knowledge editors for a picture of the museum building and for additional photographs of branding irons.

The museum's branding iron collection is one of the most extensive in the world, and the Book of Knowledge will show examples of different types of cattle brands from the museum.

Look who upset the "Low-price" Applecart!

This one's had them rubbing their eyes ever since it landed smack in the middle of the "low-price" field! The handsome rebel you see right here is upsetting tradition right and left on what a modest budget should buy. It's pricing a big 122-inch wheelbase right down with cars from four to seven inches shorter! It's adding a big bonus of extra road-hugging heft—and powering it with an all-new 347 cu. in., 10 to 1 compression ratio Strato-Streak V-8 for highest horsepower per pound in the field! A lot of might and muscle for sure—but it's gentled like nothing else on the road by Pontiac's exclusive Level-Line Ride and Precision-Touch Controls. And remember—the Chieftain's standards of luxury and quality were set by the same men who gave America the incomparable Custom Star Chief Catalinas. What we're leading up to is this: If smaller cars have gotten you down, you can actually buy a Chieftain Pontiac for less than 30 models of the "low-price three"! Why wait any longer to give your spirits and your budget the lift of a lifetime?

NEWS LETTER

FROM CONGRESSMAN WALTER ROGERS OF THE 18TH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT

Committee Work

The two major committees on which I serve have been in almost continuous session since the opening of the Congress.

One of these, the Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce, has jurisdiction in many fields. Within this jurisdictional scope are many of the so-called alphabetical agencies of this government. I refer to the CAB (Civil Aeronautics Board), CAA (Civil Aeronautics Administration), ICC (Interstate Commerce Commission), FPC (Federal Power Commission), FTC (Federal Trade Commission), FCC (Federal Communications Commission), FCSC (Foreign Claims Settlement Commission), etc.

Since these agencies were originally created as arms of the Congress, the members of these various boards and agencies are called before the Committee at the beginning of each session for a report on their activities and a discussion of policy matters. Many interesting matters develop from these hearings.

For instance, we recently heard representatives of the Federal Power Commission. It will be remembered this is the Commission that has jurisdiction over the independent gas producers, and it is required under a ruling by the Supreme Court to regulate the independent producers.

It was this situation that brought about the introduction of the natural gas bill during the last session of Congress. The bill, as originally introduced, was designed to free these independent producers of gas from federal domination and control.

It was generally understood at that time throughout the industry that the present Administration, and also the Federal Power Commission were opposed to federal regulation of independent gas producers. You recall the bill passed the Congress but was vetoed by the President.

The recent appearance of the Federal Power Commission before the Interstate Commerce Committee revealed that, if the Chairman had ever been against federal control of the independent producer, he had changed his mind.

In answer to questions propounded to the Chairman of the Commission by me, the Chairman answered, in effect, that he was in favor of federal control of independent gas producers. He also testified that he did not think the federal government should regulate the distributors of gas.

In other words, it appears presently that the federal government wants control over the gas while it is in the ground, while it is in the pipeline, and until it is delivered into the pipeline of a gas utility company to be sold to a consumer. This legislation brings up the question as to what kind of a gas bill the Administration will approve for passage this year.

Rumors are that the powers behind the Throne do not believe this is a proper time for the Administration to sponsor a gas bill, because of the bad publicity the oil people received after the closing of the Suez Canal and the price increase on crude oil. Much more could be said about this, but limited space will not permit at this time.

I will treat the subject further when we know what kind of gas bill is to be offered.

The appearance of the Federal Communications Commission before the Committee brought forth a few questions concerning the educational TV controversy. The limited number of questions that each Member could ask prevented a full discussion of this matter.

However, the Commissioners will be back before the Committee in the near future and this subject will be thoroughly investigated.

The controversy has grown out of an attempt to have the FCC change the allocation of certain good TV channels from assignment to educational institutions, where they now rest, to commercial enterprises. This attempt has brought a deluge of violent protests from people all over this nation who are vitally interested in the development of educational TV.

There are only so many TV channels available, and if all these are used for commercial purposes, none would be available for educational programs so badly needed.

Also of interest in the television field is the case pending before the FCC concerning pay or subscription television. Although this is not in operation currently, I have seen it demonstrated.

The company presenting the programs attaches a gadget to your television set which has several numbered punch buttons. You are also furnished a card each month listing the shows that will be performed during the month. Beside each name is a number covered with a tab of paper.

By tearing off this tab, you uncover a code number. You then punch the buttons on the gadget in the sequence in which they appear on the code number. This enables you to tune in the show you want to see.

At the end of the month a collector comes around and you are charged for the shows you watched. These can be determined by the number of tabs removed from your card. Incidentally, there is quite a controversy about authorizing this type of television.

The Securities and Exchange Commission has to do with securities and was originally set up to prevent people being bilked by fraudulent stock schemes. The Chairman of this Commission, in relating the enforcement activies, told the story that proves how necessary it is to get the whole truth.

He said one of their enforcement officers was questioning a high-powered salesman who was operating with a suspicious brokerage firm. He asked the salesman if he had encountered any trouble with the law during the last 10 years.

The salesman emphatically told him that he had not. Whereupon the enforcement officer asked where the salesman had been for the past 10 years.

The salesman advised him that he had been in Leavenworth Penitentiary and had just been released. His answer to the first question had certainly been true but was not as informative as the enforcement officer had wanted.

Cattle Magazine Has Museum Illustrations

Pictures from the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum are used as illustrations for three articles in the January, February and March issues of the magazine, The Cattleman, published at Fort Worth.

The articles are about Frank Collinson, West Texas pioneer and author, who is described as a typical early-day buffalo hunter in the articles by Mary Whatley Clarke.

Mrs. Clarke visited the museum several times in the course of preparing the articles, where she read interviews with Collinson, letters written by him, and saw copies of his published work and unpublished manuscripts. The Collinson material is included in the museum's interview files.

Among illustrations for the articles are reproductions of paintings by Harold D. Bugbee, museum curator of art, including a recently-completed mural showing buffalo hunters such as Collinson at work on the High Plains.

Presbyterial Meet Begins Here Monday

Mrs. Charles W. Riddle, Presbyterian missionary on furlough from India, will speak at the First Presbyterian Church March 25 and 26 at the 56th annual meeting of the Amarillo Presbyterial.

Mrs. Riddle, who was born at Mussoorie, India, is the daughter of Presbyterian missionaries in India, and the wife of a Presbyterian missionary who has served in both China and India. She has been closely associated with mission work in the Far East all of her life.

Most recently, Mrs. Riddle has worked with women's groups and with the Christian Education Committee of the Punjab Synod, especially on curriculum of Christian teaching in mission schools which are on a cooperative basis with Methodist churches.

Mr. and Mrs. Riddle went to Peking, China, in 1944. Mrs. Riddle taught English at Truth Hall Academy, a Presbyterian school for boys, and served on the women's work committee of the Presbytery.

Later when Communists assumed control of Peking, the Riddles were transferred to Moga, India, where they worked in the Training School for village teachers. Here Mrs. Riddle organized a monthly meeting for mothers of the kindergarten children and helped in the kindergarten.

Mrs. Riddle was graduated from Park College and received her master of science degree from the University of Chicago. Following her graduation she traveled for the student volunteer movement.

Mrs. A. B. Berry and Bruce spent Sunday in Hereford with Mr. and Mrs. John Moore. The women are sisters.

Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Lewis of Borger visited their daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pierce, this past weekend.

Canyon Native Assigned to Duty In U. S. Embassy in Santiago, Chile

A former Canyon student, whose parents now live in Walnut Creek, Calif., will be assigned this year as second secretary to the General Services Officer at the U. S. Embassy in Santiago, Chile.

John James Harter, who was born here and attended school from first grade through high school, has recently been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. (Pete) Harter, and is now enroute to Washington, D. C., for a course in administrative operations.

His most recent assignment has been two years service as vice counsul in Port Elizabeth, South Africa. His fiancee, Irene Glover, a newspaperwoman, is expected to return to the U. S. for a spring wedding in Washington. The date has tentatively been set for May 25.

Harter had planned to visit old friends in Canyon during his leave, but later developments prevented it. He says he will definitely visit Canyon on his next leave in 1959.

Harter says he hopes some of his friends in Canyon will be traveling through Santiago during the next two years and will stop and look him up.

The meeting, designed to show interested persons what the Dale Carnegie Course is and how it is conducted, will be held in the American Legion Hall beginning at 7:30 p. m.

The Jaycees have invited all interested persons to visit the meeting. Refreshments will be served during the program.

Joe Brooks Elected Canyon Assistant

Joe Brooks, graduating senior at West Texas State College and member of the Buffalo football team that won the Tangerine Bowl this year, was elected as assistant coach at Canyon High School Tuesday night.

Brooks, a tri-captain of the Buffaloes last season, was All-Border Conference during his senior season; was on the second team, all conferenee, during his junior year and was named to the Williamson All-American Team for middle bracket colleges during his junior year.

Brooks is married and has one boy, Mark. He majored in physical education in college.

He was an outstanding back at Silverton High School, where he was named to all-district for two years. Brooks was shifted to a guard slot at WT.

THAD SAYS . . .

"I see where the Texas Commissioner of Agriculture (who is campaigning on the voter's time when he should be on the job in Austin) is against the President's program for drouth relief. He says that the great state of Texas' finances 'are not geared for greater aid now and the legislature must have more time to plan for future participation.' It seems to me that if this man had been doing his job properly the years he has been in Austin, an effective drouth relief program would now be in effect and our farming and ranching populations would not be in such a desperate condition as they are today.

Thad Hutcheson

"I ask your support in the April 2nd Senate election. Farmers and ranchers need immediate emergency relief through State and Federal partnership and long range, government backed, low interest credit. Thad Hutcheson will work for you on these programs."

Sheriff Warns Gasoline Thieves

Sheriff L. S. Johnston issued a warning this week to persons who have been stealing gasoline from farms in the county following an incident last week in which a hub cap was shot from a car at the gas pump on the R. B. Gist Jr. farm.

Sheriff Johnston said farmers in the area are riled about the continued theft of gasoline, and are watching for the thieves. He said that someone can be seriously wounded.

The sheriff said that some of the farmers are angry enough about the thefts that they might aim for the thieves instead of their cars or tires.

In the shooting incident last week, a hub cap was blown from the wheel of a car. The shot cut through the hub cap in a close pattern, and some damage was expected to the wheel of the car.

No one had been taken into custody Tuesday afternoon.

Westside Reports Recent Activities

A demonstration on skin and hair care was given March 13 to the Westside Home Demonstration Club by Mrs. Hopkins of Beauty Councelor products in Amarillo. The demonstrator also gave the club women various beauty hints.

Roll call was answered by, "How to set a good example." Mrs. Martha Brown drew lucky number 13 for a free facial.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. Ray Pennington, to two visitors, Mrs. Walker and Mrs. Maddox, and members, Mrs. Ed Bourn, Mrs. Dick Barrett, Mrs. Henrietta Greenfield, Mrs. J. T. Brown, Mrs. R. A. Burrus, Mrs. Lewis Harvey, Mrs. Ray Metcalf, Mrs. R. O. McKay, Mrs. I. J. Meyers, Mrs. Fred Prichard and Mrs. J. N. Seay.

Six members of the club will attend a simplification of sewing course March 20 and 21 in the Farm Bureau building. Mrs. Mona Hildreth will conduct the classes.

A Stanley demonstration was given to the club March 6 in the home of Mrs. Fred Richard. Carol Richard was the demonstrator.

Refreshments were served to two visitors, Mrs. Hartman and Mrs. Maddox, and members, Suzanne Barrett, Coily Bourn, Jerry Bourn, Gertrude Pennington, Vera Mae Brown, Kitty Metcalf, Buenta McKay, Vivian Myers, Henrietta Greenfield, Carrie Harvey and the hostess, Elizabeth Richard.

The next meeting will be April 3 with Mrs. J. N. Seay.

Convocation Slated At St. Andrew's

There will be no services Sunday at the All Saints Episcopal Church, the Rev. Lester Jones, vicar, announced last Sunday morning.

This weekend is the time of the annual convocation to be held, beginning Friday, at St. Andrew's Episcopal Church in Amarillo. Joint services for area Episcopal churches will be held Sunday at St. Andrews.

Pioneer Committee Reports March 28

The nomination committee of the Pioneer Club will give a report concerning 1957 officers at the club meeting March 28 in the home of Mrs. C. W. Dunn. The meeting is slated for 2:30 p. m.

Fighting Heart Winner

Harlie Adams, left, all-state football player, received the "Fighting Heart Award" at the All-Sports Banquet Friday from Coach Forrest Faver.

Graham Devotional Read by Mrs. Eby

Mrs. Bessie Eby read a Billy Graham devotional at a recent meeting of the Canyon Mother-in-Law Club. The devotional urged people to seek a spiritual awakening. The scripture was from Matthew 24.

Mrs. Laura Duckworth read "Grisley Bear" and Mrs. Mary Burtz gave a reading, "The Snow Bird." The club sang "Silver Hair Among the Gold." Mrs. C. W. Dunn presided at the meeting.

Refreshments of coffee, punch, sandwiches and cookies were served by the hostess, Mrs. T. V. Slack, and co-hostesses, Mrs. W. G. Rose, Mrs. Myrtle Wester and Mrs. I. M. Stein.

Those present, other than the hostesses, were Mrs. Dunn, Mrs. G. B. Combs, Mrs. Addie Hefner, Mrs. Ed Gidden, Mrs. Duckworth, Mrs. R. D. Lowry, Mrs. George Cox, Mrs. T. T. Fain, Mrs. Isabelle Dickinson, Mrs. W. J. Stewart, Mrs. Burtz, Mrs. Eby, Mrs. C. H. Stratton, Mrs. E. C. Penick, Mrs. J. A. Woodfin and Mrs. E. C. Hawes.

Foreign Countries, Views Featured

Three speakers from foreign countries will be featured Saturday when Canyon is host to Pi Chapter of the Delta Kappa Gamma Society. The luncheon meeting will be at 1 p. m. in the Canyon Elementary School cafeteria with Darthula Walker in charge.

Mrs. Judith J. Nagy of Budapest, Hungary, will express her views on the topic, "The Magic Carpet of Understanding." Ned Toomey of Beinut will discuss the same topic from the point of view of his country, Lebanon. The third speaker, Prachan Sthapitanonda, will represent Thailand in the discussion.

"We hope that these speakers will tell us the main things that we should know about their country and their way of life, and what their country should know about the United States and our way of life," Miss Walker said.

All of the speakers are residents of Amarillo.

Mrs. Carol Olden of Amarillo, Louis Sprain of Bellview and Mrs. Glen Phillips of Perryton visited with Mrs. R. D. Lowrey in her home Saturday afternoon.

Fairview Breezes

Brother Billie Jo Hall preached for us Sunday.

The Home Demonstration "42" tournament closed Saturday evening with five tables participating.

Those winning high score in the evening tournament were Richard Evans and Madge Sutton. Low score was won by Evelyn Shipman and Tom Rogers. The grand final score was captured by Mrs. G. E. Wesley. Her prize was a lovely footstool.

Mrs. June Foster entertained the Home Demonstration Club Friday afternoon with 11 members present. Business resulted in Mrs. Madge Sutton being elected president and Lavena Amerson as vice-chairman.

Cocoa and coffee, cake, tuna fish sandwiches and mints were served to Madge Sutton, Serena Bryan, Lavena Amerson, Lizzie Wesley, Edna Wilson, Georgia Rogers, Evelyn Shipman, Grace Schaeffer, Annie Wesley, Fern Wilson and the hostess.

Art Foster, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Foster, is vacationing on the coast with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Foster.

Emiel Ross Shipman had the misfortune of getting a fractured finger while playing with bricks.

Mrs. George Schaeffer visited her mother, Mrs. M. F. Evans, last Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Junior Lowery and daughters visited Mrs. Lowery's grandmother, Mrs. M. F. Evans, Sunday.

Mrs. J. W. Wesley was being checked by her doctor Tuesday and Saturday.

Also being checked by his doctor last week was Raford Shipman.

Junior Lowery and daughter, Patricia, visited Saturday evening in the G. E. Wesley home.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Wesley visited Mrs. Wesley's mother, Mrs. M. F. Evans, Friday morning.

Mrs. Ora Evans visited in this community last Wednesday.

Woodrow Wesley and son, C. R., visited Sunday afternoon in the J. W. Wesley home.

Mrs. Geneva Sutton had minor surgery in Neblett Hospital Thursday and was brought home from the hospital Friday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Roberts visited Friday morning in the Charles Sutton home.

Jane Collier, who is working as a nurses aid at Friona, is home for a few days.

Can a house be self-conscious? Or out of sorts? Even frustrated?

Sometimes we think ours can, and does.

We had unexpected company for lunch the other day, and looked around the dining room as this stranger might have done. Could he detect a faint haze over the mirror; or did we just imagine it was there because we knew how many weeks had passed since it was properly cleaned? The drawers in the marble-topped chest had been pushed in hastily, and too far; a faint line of dust lay along the drawer frame. Two small water spots marred the gentle warmth of the old green rug.

A few months ago, the swinging kitchen door had a severe case of nerves and quit swinging. "That old spring that's been creaking," it seemed to say. "I'm just not going to put up with it another day!" And so we called in a doctor-carpenter to operate.

Our house may be a little sensitive, too; for it seems to know when we're treating it like a home, and when it's just a house.

Generally, when we come in from work, it seems to welcome us — quiet, warm, sunny, ready to be used. But when we get busy for several days and run in only to change clothes, then go off again until bedtime, it gets out of sorts. It's not friendly when we walk in — just empty, and a little tousled around the bedroom and kitchen sink.

Like the spouse when he needs to go to the barber, or the housewife when she waits a couple of days too long to get her hair done, this house of ours most surely has its self-conscious days, too.

Hair Arrangement Discussed at Club

Madge Sutton discussed good hair arrangement at the Fairview Home Demonstration Club meeting March 15 at the home of June Foster. She also gave a reading, "In Grandma's Day."

Inez Shipman's resignation as club president was accepted, and Madge Sutton was elected. Lavena Amerson was elected vice president.

Refreshments were served to Annie Wesley, Georgia Rogers, Lavena Amerson, Grace Schaeffer, Evelyn Shipman, Madge Sutton, Lizzie Wesley, Ferne Wilson, Edna Wilson and the hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Campbell spent last week in Woodrow, Colo., with their daughter and her family, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Nickell and children.

ACTS LIKE ONE

Two Southern Maryland farmers were discussing their trials and tribulations. The first farmer said, "Well, it looks like I'm gonna have to get rid of that old rooster of mine. He crows all night."

The second farmer asked, "What kind of a rooster is he?"

"He's a Rhode Island Red," was the reply.

"You mean he's a Communist?" asked the second farmer.

"No," said his friend, "but he acts like one. If he can't get peace and quiet, he's gonna see to it that nobody else does."

NO CUT RATES

'Be Proud You're a Homemaker' Tri-Club Speaker Tells Women

Changes in the status of women was the theme of the address by Mrs. R. B. Jones, second state vice president of the Seventh District of Federated Women's Clubs, at a tri-club luncheon March 13 in the Blue Room of the college cafeteria.

Mrs. Jones urged women to respect their native professions of homemaking, and to never be apologetic for being a housewife. "Homemaking is the most important job you could possibly have," she said.

The ideal wife as outlined by Mrs. Jones is affectionate, well educated, has a sense of humor, has a desire to grow and mature with her husband, is an intelligent listener, shares problems, gives advice when it is asked for, lives within her husband's income.

The ideal wife, according to Mrs. Jones, also sees that relaxation and recreation is provided for her husband and family and that the family either has recreation or a project which they can do together.

Quoting various current speakers, legislators and writers, the speaker urged women to accept the responsibility of changing corrupt government by voting intelligently, keeping informed and, most of all, by beginning "with the children and home."

The club woman, who has been active in federated club work for 20 years, concluded her address by outlining qualifications of a good club member. She urged club members to have good leadership which led for better programs, to voice opinions in meetings, to be qualified in specific fields of endeavor and to be willing to work.

Following the address, Mrs. R. A. Neblett presented a proposal to be considered by the three clubs, the Sue Hite, the Woman's Book Club and the Junior Woman's Book Club. Citing the example of the Hereford Medical Auxiliary which last year undertook a project of obtaining money for a hospital wing, by using money formerly used for Christmas cards, she proposed that Canyon do the same to obtain a recreation hall for the young people.

Club members were introduced by presidents, Mrs. J. O. Parker of the Sue Hite Club, Mrs. H. R. Fulton Jr., Junior Woman's Book Club, and Darthula Walker, mistress of ceremonies, who introduced the Woman's Book Club members in the absence of the president.

Previous to the address, Mrs. Carolyn Davis, accompanied by Juanelva Rose, sang three musical selections.

Agent Teaches Sewing Course

A course on simplification of sewing will be conducted today and tomorrow at the Farm Bureau building by Mrs. Mona Hildreth, HD agent. The classes begin at 9:30 a. m. and end at 5 p. m.

Members from all Home Demonstration Clubs may attend, but approximately only 10 may take the course at one time. Names will be drawn to decide who attends this week's classes, according to Mrs. Hildreth.

Mrs. Hildreth said she plans to conduct additional classes for all those interested. The classes are to help women enjoy sewing by teaching them new techniques that will enable them to sew quicker with better results.

Among the points to be stressed are directional stitching, directional pressing, underneath stitching on collars and avoidance of tacking. Mrs. Hildreth said one of the purposes of the course was to show the seamstress how to attain the professional look in clothes.

A sewing simplification course was given in February and a follow-up course in pattern alteration. The repeat of sewing simplification classes has been by request of the Home Demonstration women who missed the first course.

Dear Editor;

In this coming election to be held April 2 to elect a U. S. Senator to succeed former Senator Price Daniel, let's do something this time in defence of our country by laying aside party politics and elect the Hon. Martin Dies who is fighting communism and is feared by them.

I am afraid that many of our people are not aware of what effect the communist party is having in many ways in desrtoying our country. The latest to come to my attention was an item in the Amarillo News recently as regards the tons of Red propaganda material in this country and being transshipped to South America at the expense of U. S. taxpayers.

Rep. Gordon Sherer of Ohio remarked: "No wonder we have a 500 million dollar postal deficit."

Let's lessen our tax burdens by helping fight communism before it is too late.

Take Stock on Effect of TV

COLLEGE STATION—How is television affecting your family life?

To take stock, Mrs. Eloise Johnson, extension family life specialist, suggests a family conference on the matter. Consider the amount of reading being done by each family member, the quality of school work done by the children, the play and sleep habits of the family, and the amount of time the family spends talking together.

The U. S. Childrens Bureau lists six ways that you can use television to help the members of your family.

Study the programs that your children like best and notice how they react to them. There may be clues to emotional needs that parents can help fill, such as more new experiences in actual and more active normal friendships.

Share the programs with your older children. Discuss the stories and help them realize the difference between phoney and real-life situations.

Guard against radio and television as a child's only outlet for natural impulses for aggressiveness.

Notice if your children seem to fall back on TV because there is nothing better to do.

Encourage children to choose programs that sharpen their curiosity about important things such as science, travel, and the lives of worthwhile people.

Use television to bring your family close together. When members must choose programs, share some and give up some, they learn to appreciate each others interests and rights.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

OUR SOIL ★ OUR STRENGTH

The Randall-Potter Soil Conservation District includes all of Randall County and that part of Potter County west of the city of Amarillo and south of the Canadian breaks.

Any farmer in this district who is interested in becoming a cooperator can do so by contacting a supervisor or Joe Batson, work unit conservationist, S. C. S. The supervisors are J. W. Spencer, C. V. Conatser, R. C. Sampson Jr., Frank Begert and Marshall Rockwell Jr.

You can become a cooperator by having a mutual agreement with the district to (1) use your land within its capabilities, (2) treat your land in keeping with its needs, (3) develop as rapidly as feasible a conservation plan for your entire farm, (4) apply one or more conservation practices in keeping with the objectives and standards of the district, and (5) maintain all structures established in an effective condition and to continue to use all other conservation measures put into effect.

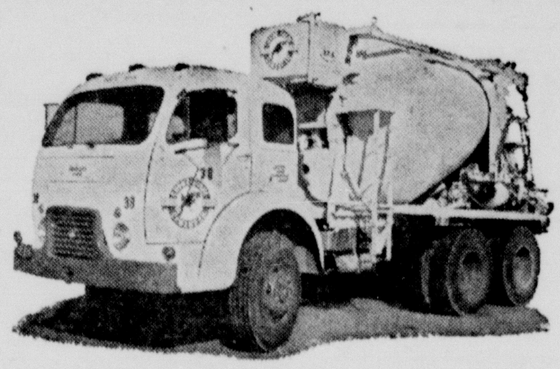

The technical assistance and supervision is furnished the district by the Soil Conservation Service with offices in the court house. There is no charge for these services.

Cherry Blossoms

BY DOVIE CHERRY

This last weekend was really a busy one for federated club women. The seventh district convention in Amarillo was certainly jampacked with activities.

And ironically enough, amidst all the hustle and bustle, the speaker for the Friday morning breakfast at the Herring Hotel, Ali Ghito, European screen and stage star teacher, told the women how to relax.

If you find yourself tied up in a knot sometime every day or all day, you might like to hear what she said about this problem of relaxation.

The best lesson on relaxation, she said, comes not from a masseur, a clinic course, but from children. She said to watch your children as they played. When they became tired from playing they simply landed flat on the floor, completely relaxed. As soon as they have rested, they're up and at 'em with all their former vigor.

Sunday, I observed some small children, and got a first hand example of what Mrs. Ghito meant. Oh, to be able to just become a limp rag like they do without any effort.

I spoke to her for a moment after her talk and she told me one of the tricks that would stop nervous fatigue was simply for a person to make a conscientious effort to stop every time he became tired or nervous and lie flat on his back, on the floor, arms outstretched.

Do this everyday, she said, and, women, you won't become nervous old hags. It might even help some of us who have already arrived.

Ali Ghito is an advocate of long strides putting the toes first. She stresses getting in practice using long strides by taking a walk each day, for 10 minutes at least.

For graceful hands she said practice doing a figure eight with the hands without moving the arms. But, first relax the hands by flinging them loosely from the wrists. Also practice moving the fingers individually.

☆ ☆ ☆

Evidently Ali Ghito practices what she advocates. I, at least, was mighty surprised when she revealed her age—52. She can still do proud justice to 35 or younger.

So . . . ready now girls . . . get out your walking shoes.

☆ ☆ ☆

There were several good speakers at the convention, namely the Hon. H. Roe Bartle, mayor of Kansas City, Mo., and Judge Philip Gilliam, Juvenile Court, Denver, Colo.

H. Roe Bartle is one fellow that must have learned the secret of relaxation. The fact that he has served on as many as 30 committees at one time certifies that he must know how to relax or else he surely would be snuggled up in a strait jacket.

I think any woman or man would have enjoyed hearing Mayor Bartle. A few pithy and intestinal statements he offered:

"All we win from war is the right to feed those we defeat . . . at the end of every war we start hating on the basis of religions . . . the outstanding thing today is that we have not religious freedom but religious fairness . . . it is the character of men that will give us good government . . . there are two kinds of government, government that is always using its citizens as its servants or government that is the servant of the people . . . and in concluding . . . Oh, God, please revitalize our America, but Lord, Lord, please start with me.

Mayor Bartle's formula for a quick war is "All future wars should be fought by men, and only men who are over 50 years of age." They wouldn't last long enough, he said.

For provoking solemn and serious thinking in Washington, his formula is to have every senator and congressman, just as soon as congress has declared war, to be in uniform and on the battle front within 24 hours.

In Judge Gilliams' speech Friday afternoon, a statement that stuck in my mind was the one in which he told convention women not to be fooled into thinking there are no truly bad boys.

There are bad boys, he said, boys bad all the way through. That doesn't mean that there is no possible hope for such boys, but it does mean that they aren't just partially good boys in which bad got the upper hand.

Other remarks . . . be great simply instead of being simply great . . . advice to parents, believe in yourselves; if you start believing in yourself you start believing in others . . .

An example of how words can take on different meanings depending on how they are used was Judge Gilliam's story of how he had refused to give permission for his jokes used in an address to be printed with the story of his speech. He plead that it would ruin those jokes for any future speeches. The next morning he read in the newspaper, following the glowing summary of his speech, this paragraph:

"The judge also told some stories which can't be printed in the newspaper."

Before I round up the column for the week, I want to tell you of a proposal presented by Mrs. R. A. Neblett at a luncheon last week.

She proposed that Canyon adopt as a project this year the Christmas card project undertaken by Hereford last year with the sponsorship of the Medical Auxiliary.

The project was simply collect money formerly used to buy Christmas cards to donate toward an additional wing of the hospital. The goodly sum of over $3,000 was raised this way.

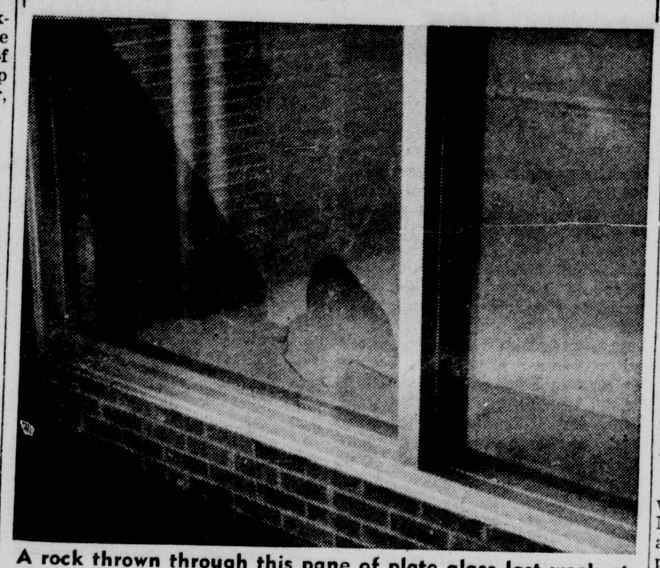

Mrs. Neblett proposed that Canyon use this type of project to raise money for a recreation center for its young people.

As I understand it, the people of Hereford who participated donated the money that they had formerly used to send greetings to people in the city and continued to send greetings to friends and relatives out of town.

If Canyon would like to undertake this project, it would be an excellent way to raise money. I followed the progress of the project in Hereford last year, and I was astonished to find how much money was actually spent on Christmas greetings.

You may think that this is early to be talking about a Christmas card project, but as I hear it from those who worked with the organization of the project in Hereford, now is the time to get the ball rolling, or else, when it gets near to Christmas, you will still be sitting around thinking about the kick-off.

Broken Pane

A rock thrown through this pane of plate glass last week at the elementary school was one of two which damaged the glass at the front of the building.

Lower-quality starter — Improved Super Startena

Improved Purina Super Startena gives you...

Extra growth you can see and feel

Cover the right half of the lower picture with your hand. The pullets on the left don't look bad at all, do they? Now uncover the Super Startena-fed birds on the right! Same age . . . 33 days. Same amount of starter . . . only 2 pounds. But what a difference in growth!

There is a live-chick demonstration at our store right now. That's where you can see and feel, in the flesh, the extra growth Purina's improved Super Startena puts on chicks. While you're here, check their age and size. Heft one or two of the chicks. Feel the solid, chunky weight of those Super Startena birds. Livability's another big thing. Records from farms all over the country on more than two million Purina-fed chicks showed an average of 97.3% livability!

The same feed that produced birds like these is ready to work for you. Ask us for Purina's improved Super Startena . . . and get that extra growth you can see and feel.
